ABOUT ParkWords

The Parkview Residents' Association is hosting ParkWords (Parkview Literary Festival) once again on Heritage Day Thursday 24 September, to celebrate the remarkable literary talent that we have in our suburb and surrounds.

INFORMAL LITERARY TALKS AND DEBATES

Listen to top authors discuss, debate and dissect serious – and not so serious issues.

Themes for the discussions include Beyond the fire pool, How South Africa works – and could work a whole lot better, the electricity debacle, football hooligans, how TV and celebrity chefs have changed the way we eat and cook, the remarkable lives of Jan Christiaan Smuts, Dov Fedler and Nadine Gordimer, love and relationships in SA fiction today, keeping our kids safe in a scary, connected world, has the government won the e-toll struggle?, SA creative writing – beyond apartheid, successful activism in a post-apartheid South Africa and travel.

Participating authors and literary folk who are giving up their time for free include: Mondli Makhanya, David Williams, William Gumede, Justice Malala, Greg Mills, Peter Bruce, Tim Cohen, Rob Rose, Chris Yelland and James Styan, Ray Hartley, Carlos Amato, Kevin McCallum, Harriet Gavshon, Sarah Emily Duff, Andrea Burgener, Richard Steyn, Tim Couzens, Jenny Crwys-Williams, Craig Higgingson, Mandla Langa, Pamela Power, Judith Ancer, Arthur Goldstuck, Maureen Isaacson, Karen Lazar, Lisa Seftel, Wayne Duvenage, Ben Williams, Achmat Dangor, Dov Fedler, David Williams, David Lewis, Didi Moyle, Bridget Hilton-Barber, Denise Slabbert, Jabulile Ngwenya and Michele Magwood.

Attendance is free and will be on a first-come, first-served basis. 40 to 80 seats will be available per venue. Please arrive at least 15 minutes before the start time of each literary event.
